Insignia Services

Over two-thirds of all home loans in the United States are conventional and follow strict guidelines prescribed by banks to facilitate faster processing and minimize risk at scale. These types of loans are not an option for most of our clients.

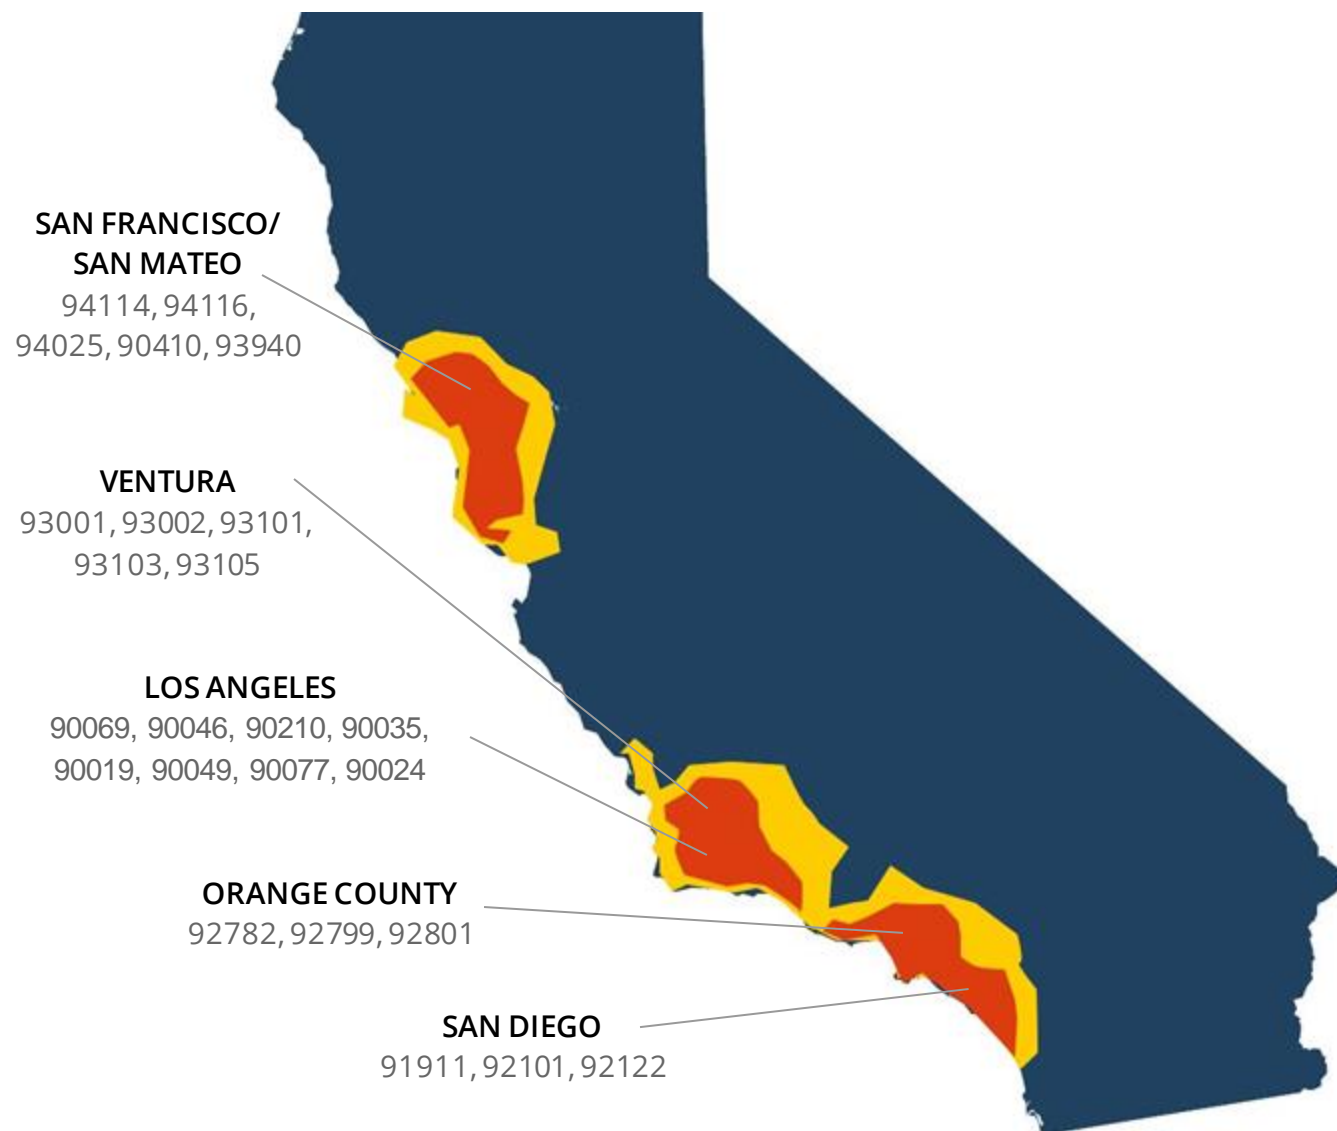

When a client with complex finances comes to Insignia Mortgage for a loan, we take an individualized approach to lending, designed to grasp all the complexities, choose the right lending product, consider layered tax scenarios, structure the loan, and properly present the loan to our lender-partners.

We call this approach Individualized Lending

Individualized Lending gets its arms around financial complexity, providing lending solutions that take into account challenges faced by our clients, including foreign national and self-employed clients. Critical stages of this process include deeper understanding of a client's business and assets, thorough review by our in-house CPA for tax implications, and use of a problem-solution storytelling structure that mitigates risk. Individualized Lending aligns the needs of our clients and our lender-partners.
